The decrease in the public debt during the month of September, was $17,483,000, and since June 30, last, $11,723,500. The total debt is $1,738,855,925.

A report comes from Milwaukee that Colonel W. H. Jacobs, the Democratic nominee for State Treasurer, will decline to run. It is also reported that George H. Paul, will not accept the chairmanship of the Democratic State committee. Colonel Johnson does not want to run in the face of defeat, and Senator Paul has no desire to lead a forlorn hope.

The people of Bloomington, Illinois, got up a sensation on Saturday evening, by breaking open the jail, and taking a murderer therefrom, and hanging him to a tree. Five thousand people took a hand in this matinee, and women and children joined the crowd and showed their satisfaction over the proceedings by cheering and waving their handkerchiefs.

Washington dispatches say that Mrs. Garfield is greatly shocked about the fact that so large a part of her husband's remains have been placed in the Medical museum in that city. She has been told that all the inward parts from the neck to the loins were taken from Long Branch, after the autopsy was made, to Washington, and have been exhibited in the museum to the throng of curious surgeons and physicians.

The New York Republican convention will be held on Wednesday. There will be a center in that gathering a powerful interest, because it will be a battle between what is known as the stalwarts and the Garfield administration men. In some counties, the stalwarts who are headed by Mr. Conkling, made a clean sweep, while other counties were carried by the anti-Conkling men. The New York Tribune gives the anti-Conkling men 231 votes in the convention and the Conklingites 165. The Times estimates that the stalwarts will be beaten by 80 votes.

An official autopsy of President Garfield has been made and appears in the October number of the American Journal of Medical Sciences, with the following title:

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE POST-MORTEM EXAMINATION OF THE BODY OF PRESIDENT J. A. GARFIELD, MADE SEPTEMBER 21, 1881, COMMENCING AT 4:30 P. M., EIGHTEEN HOURS AFTER DEATH, AT FRANKLIN GUTHRIE, ELBERON, N. J., PRESENT AND ASSISTING: DR. D. W. BLISS, Surgeon-General of the Army, U. S. A.; Surgeon-General, U. S. A.; DR. ROBERT B. BURNETT, DR. FRANK H. HAMILTON, DR. D. HAYES AGNEW, DR. ANDREW H. SMITH, of Elberon and New York, and J. A. HARRIS, Surgeon, U. S. A., of the Army Medical Museum of Washington, D. C.

This report, it will be seen, is by the surgeons who were in charge of the case, and is very full and quite comprehensive. The report is a long one, too long to be reproduced in these pages, but the chief points are the following: "The appearance of the body before the autopsy, is given, the manner in which the autopsy was made is detailed, and all the pus cavities, ulcerations, fractures, and so on, are described with care and at full length. It appears as heretofore stated by physicians, that the ball, after fracturing the right eleventh rib three and a half inches to the right of the vertebral spine, went obliquely forward, passing through the body of the first lumbar vertebra, and lodged in the adipose connective tissue immediately below the lower border of the pancreas, and about two inches and a half to the left of the spinal column. Here, the doctors again declare, the ball was completely encysted. The track of the ball from the point at which it had fractured the rib and the point where it had entered the vertebra was considerably dilated, and pus from it barrowed downward through the adipose tissue behind the right kidney, and thence found its way between the peritoneum and the right iliac fossa, making a channel which extended almost to the groin. The doctors again declare that the immediate cause of death was secondary hemorrhage, which proceeded from a rent nearly four-tenths of an inch long in the main trunk of the splenic artery. The doctors declare that this rent must have been made several days before the death of the patient. The physicians also describe the condition of the vital organs, which were more or less diseased. This last official statement of President Garfield's physicians further proves how false were the official bulletins, and how completely the physicians were at fault as to the location of the ball and the direction which it took after entering. It is really surprising that General Garfield lived so long as he did, considering the multitude of ulcerations, pus cavities, etc., which the fatal bullet had generated."

PRESIDENT ARTHUR.

He Remained at Home Yesterday—Few Callers.

New York, Oct. 2.—President Arthur remained at home to-day. He received few callers. Senator Conkling is not in the city, and opinion is divided whether he will attend the Republican State convention. President Arthur drove for an hour in Central Park to-day with his law partner, Mr. Kaevols. It is the first time he has left his house on Lexington avenue since his arrival from Washington. He looked very much in need of fresh air. As he came down the steps he was recognized by persons returning from afternoon service, and in a moment a crowd gathered and gazed with curious eyes until the carriage turned a corner. On his return to his house another crowd greeted him. While ascending the steps two lady friends congratulated him upon his accession to the Presidential chair. He greeted them kindly, but said in a sorrowful tone, "it is more a case for sympathy than of congratulation at present." His reply and his manner repressed the cheer that many persons were about to give as he entered the door. Among those who had audience with him were, ex-President Grant, General Logan, Attorney General MacVagh, and John C. New.

THE ASSASSIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—When the grand jury meets to-morrow morning the first case which will be given them will be that of Guiteau for the murder of President Garfield. The proof is so clear coupled as it is by his confession, that the grand jury will probably speedily find the indictment, and will send it to the Court Tuesday morning. The District Attorney desires to take Guiteau secretly from the jail to the court house to plead to the indictment. He will probably be brought into court on a day and at a time when least expected. His counsel will ask for time, which will be granted, and it is not probable that the trial will occur before November. Guiteau thinks that in a month or two public excitement will have quieted, and that the people will come to look upon him as a mere lunatic in the hands of Providence. He has been allowed to read some old copies of newspapers, and though in constant terror, still looks forward with vanity to the exhibition which he will make of himself at the trial.

SERIOUS DAMAGES.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 2.—The river was on the rise, the gauge registering last night at 6 o'clock 11 feet and 3 inches; gain for twenty-four hours, 5 inches. Captain Davis, of the steamer Josie, who arrived in port yesterday afternoon, states that the river rose at Preston in the twenty-four hours ending yesterday morning 6 inches and is still rising. A big flood is expected at LaCrosse from the waters contributing streams above that point. Reports received yesterday afternoon at the office of the Omaha line stated that the Minnesota river was rising at the rate of one inch per hour from the LaSue to St. Peter. At Shakopee the Minnesota is above danger line. The bottoms are flooded and an immense amount of hay has been destroyed. A railway bridge of the Minneapolis and St. Louis is washed out and all trains stopped.

THROUGH TRAINS.

WAUPACA, WIS., Oct. 2.—Commencing in ten days, the Green Bay and Minnesota railroad will run through trains from Green Bay to Minneapolis. At present the connection is made with the C. & N. P. M. and O. at Merrillan Junction, thereby reaching St. Paul, but not Minneapolis, the same evening. By the new connection, which will be at Winona with the O. M. & St. P., passengers can leave most places in this part of the State and reach Minneapolis at 1:15 p. m. something unattainable by any route at present. The Green Bay and Minneapolis road is making more improvements and receiving more congratulatory remarks lately than ever before in its history.

A GREAT SENSATION.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 1.—About 6:30 this evening three discharges of a revolver following each other in rapid succession were heard in the county jail. Then the people on the street began to cry: "Police! police!" and ran towards the jail building at the corner of Centre and Market streets. Immediately rumor prevailed that the prisoners had obtained pistols, had killed the Sheriff and jailer, and were making their escape. The fact was a prisoner named Charles Pierce, a horse thief had murdered Teddy Franks the county jailer. Franks, while changing the prisoner, Pierce alias Howell, from one cell to another, was murdered in cold blood by Pierce, who seized the jailer's revolver from Franks' hip pocket, shooting him three times and killing him instantly. The third shot, a large ball, went clear through the body. Within a few minutes after this tragedy had occurred, a large number of people had gathered in front of the North door of the jail within which the body of Teddy Franks was lying stark in death. Walking among the people, you could hear men say: "This is too bad! This comes from the failure of our courts to punish crime. He ought to be hung." "Don't stir up a mob!" a law-and-order man would say. "Let the law take its course." "The law be damned," was the reply. "There is no law against murder and other crime in McLean county. He ought to be hanged." Then some one cried: "Let us take him out!" Cheers followed this, and other voices cried: "Take him out!" After an hour's excitement, a rush was made, and the work of breaking into the jail was commenced.

For two hours the mob worked at the jail with six sledge-hammers and battering-rams made of great pieces of timber. Sheriff Alor and his deputies and the city police soon ascertained that they could do nothing to restrain the reckless men and boys who composed the assaulting crowd. Fully 5,000 persons were in the howling, yelling multitude. The officers did what they could to delay the mob's progress.

Several prominent citizens, including Senator Rife and others, attempted to get the ear of the excited men who were battering the jail wall down, but in vain. At last the mob gained admittance to the jail, secured the murderer of Franks, took him to a tree on Market street, near the northeast corner of Centre and Market, put a rope around his neck, threw one end across a branch and pulled the culprit up.

One of the mob climbed up the tree and out upon the branch to which the murderer was hanging, and amid the cheers of the delighted people, pulled the hanging body up three or four feet and let it drop.

"Pull him up higher!" the crowd would cry. The man on the branch would comply with the request and let the body drop with a dull thud, while the savage crowd would cheer and laugh.

The knot had slipped behind the head of the corpse, and the head was thrown forward. The eyes stared and the pale face turned from side to side, a spectacle which the maddened crowd seemed to enjoy. It cheered and yelled, and shouted: "There's law for you!" "Damn the courts!" was cried here and there.

At last the man on the branch caught the rope, slipped down it, thrust his legs around the neck of the corpse, and jumped to the ground. The crowd seemed to be delighted by this feat.

There were a great many women in this vast crowd, who plodded with the rest through the muddy streets and joined in the cheering, and occasionally handkerchiefs in women's hands would flutter above the heads of the mob. When the murderer was raised the first time Officer Bailey, of the police force, imperiled his life by running in, cutting the rope, and letting Pierce fall to the ground. In attempting to repeat it he came near being killed. A large number of people climbed on top of a shed to witness the execution, when the building went crashing to the ground. Strangely, none were seriously hurt. After thirty minutes the murderer was cut down, and the coroner took charge of the body.

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time, when I bought a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. I have used a little more than one bottle and feel as well as at 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine. See advertisement."

ON THE WAR-PATH.

TUCSON, Arizona, October 2.—Some soldiers who were repairing the telegraph line between Camps Grant and Thomas to-day, were attacked by Chiricahua Apaches, and two of their party were killed.

A courier came to-day from Cedar Springs who saw the dead bodies of a number of citizens on the way.

The Chiricahua are now in the mountains midway between Camps Thomas and Grant.

Two Couriers came into Grant to-night from Lieut. Overton's command. They found the dead bodies of two soldiers and one citizen near Cedar Springs, and while examining them were fired upon by Indians in ambush.

Gen. Wilcox with four companies of cavalry and fort-seven Indian scouts are in close pursuit.

Latest accounts report Gen. Wilcox as having engaged the Chiricahua in battle at a point twelve miles north of Camp Grant. All the forces at Camp Grant and Thomas are under arms to-night.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Wit and Wisdom of Lord Beaconsfield—Edith Waldo Emerson—Shakespeare's The Comedy of Errors, and Tragedy of Cymbeline.

WIT AND WISDOM OF BENJAMIN DISRAELI, Earl of Beaconsfield. Collected from His Writings and Speeches. New York, D. Appleton & Co., publishers. Price, cloth, $1.25.

Lord Beaconsfield said a great many wise things in his life-time and in his speeches are found many witty sayings. These are worth preserving in book form, and therefore some one (the compiler's name is not given) has collected them in a handsome volume. Beaconsfield was a great character—a brilliant man, a fine orator, and a vigorous writer—and the volume before us will be found exceedingly interesting. It is not claimed to be exhaustive, but the writer hopes that it will induce others to look for further treasures in the writings and speeches of the distinguished statesman, diplomat and author.

The extracts given in the book are as they should be, brief as a rule, and are arranged in alphabetical order according to subjects.

For sale by Janssen, McHugh & Co., Chicago, and by James Sutherland & Sons, Janesville.

ALFRED WALDO EMERSON: Philosopher and Poet. By ALFRED H. GUERNSEY, author of "Thomas Carlyle—His Life, His Books, His Theories." New York, D. Appleton & Co., publishers. Price, paper, 40 cents.

Ralph Waldo Emerson is well worth reading. He has written much, and probably more than the general reader cares to attempt to read. In this volume, which is one of the popular "Handy Volume Series," Mr. Guernsey has crowded the best of the writings of Mr. Emerson, and has also given a very interesting sketch of his life. He has made a very readable book, and those who have not the time nor the inclination to read all of Emerson's writings, will, by a perusal of these extracts, which Mr. Guernsey has selected with good judgment, gain a fair idea of the New England philosopher's character and writings.

SHAKESPEARE'S THE COMEDY OF ERRORS—Edited, with notes, by Wm. J. Rolfe, A. There has been no edition of Shakespeare published in this country which has proved so popular as that of Rolfe's. They are exceedingly handy volumes, nicely bound in cloth, printed on excellent paper, the type is large and clear, and the illustrations very choice. The introductions to the plays, which embody the history of the plays, the source of the plots, and critical comments on the plays, are very often worth the price of the volumes. Beside these there are explanatory notes to each act and scene which will prove of immense value to all readers of Shakespearean plays.

These are published by the Harpers, and are for sale by Janssen, McHugh & Co., Chicago, and by James Sutherland & Sons, Janesville.

sulting from the good times and high prices of produce in the west, necessitates the employment of five persons, waiting, unpacking, and packing goods, waiting on customers. Surely the boom has struck the west and it has apparently come to stay.

—Last evening Rev. O. A. Curtis, at Court street church, gave a really eloquent discourse on Garfield. Mr. Curtis was in attendance at the annual Methodist conference one week ago, and this was his first opportunity of speaking to his people on the theme, which evidently lay close to his heart. He spoke of the lamented President as a representative of America's idea that every noble man was a nobelman, and his life showed to the world the possibilities of the American youth, who could rise from the lowest to the highest walks. He pictured Garfield also as the representative of four educational systems, his broad culture and deep philosophy having been developed, not by life in foreign universities, but by our own district school, our own seminary, and our American college. The speaker also tenderly held up the showing of home life, and devotion to those of his own fireside. He gloried in him also as a representative of the two common notions that purity of life and nobility of soul could not win success in American politics. In closing he touched upon the encouraging showing of the strength of this government, and how the people of the world were called upon to admire the solid construction of a republic which could stand such blows as that of the civil war, the assassination of Lincoln, and now coming another blow in the death of Garfield. "The Government at Washington still lives."

The discourse throughout was listened to very closely, and thrilled and moved the audience greatly.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, bark, &c., and pulled up by long, bogus certificates of pretended miracle cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well-known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. —See another.

The Law of Kindness

is universal; it affects all the human family, all animals, and may be even found in patient medicines. Some are drastic, and the patient is obliged to suffer pains worse than the disease; but in cases of obstinate constipation, dyspepsia, there is no remedy so kind, so gentle in its effects, and yet so satisfactory, as BURROCK'S BLOOD PURIFIER. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

MILITARY MATTERS.

The following order has been issued relative to the death of President Garfield:

STATE OF WISCONSIN.
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
MADISON, Sept. 23, 1881.

General orders, No. 5.

I. With profound sorrow the Commander-in-Chief announces to the National Guard the death of James A. Garfield, President of the United States. The National Guard of Wisconsin share with the citizens of the country the feelings of grief caused by the death of the honored and beloved President, and mourn his death as a national calamity.

II. As a mark of respect to the deceased President, the officers of the National Guard, on all occasions of parade or ceremony, during the ensuing six months, will wear crepe on the left arm and sword hilt; and the colors of the various military organizations will be furled and draped with crepe during that time.

By order of the Governor:
EDWIN E. BRYANT,
Adjutant General.

OFFICIAL:
A. H. BRIGHT, Capt. and A. D. C.

THE ANNUAL INSPECTION.

An order has also been issued concerning the annual inspection of the several companies of the Wisconsin National Guard. The following companies composing the First Battalion are to be inspected by Colonel Nicholson Smith.

Beloit City Guards.
Bower City Rifles.
Custer Rifles.
Delevan Guards.
Janesville Guards.

The above companies must be prepared for inspection at any time after October 17th, and in no case shall the time for inspecting any company be extended beyond October 31. The exact date for each of the companies will be decided upon in a few days and the commanders duly notified thereof.

The attention of company commanders is called to paragraph 41 of the Rules and Regulations, and they are severally requested to prepare a written statement of the information therein required, and to present the same to the inspecting officer on the day of inspection.

Nearly a Miracle.

E. Asenith Hall, Binghamton, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for several months with a dull pain across left lung and shoulders. I lost my appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. My mother procured some Burdock Blood Bitters. I took them as directed, and have felt no pain since first week after using them, and am now quite well." Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

THE IRON MASK.

To-night Frederick Bryton, supported by an excellent company, are to open their season by giving the "Iron Mask," at the Opera house. The Minneapolis Tribune speaks of its rendition last season as follows:

"The Oratorio theatre last evening, held a large and demonstrative audience, to welcome the revival of "The Iron Mask," always a favorite with Minneapolis people. It is needless to speak of the play as a whole, but the manner in which it was dressed and mounted last night deserves commendation. In the prison scenes of last night Bryton gave some of the finest old-man character work ever witnessed by the writer. So vivid, indeed, was the portrayal that those who have read the sad and mysterious history of the Iron Mask find it hard to repress feelings of horror and gloom.

Prof. Horsford's Baking Powder.

M. H. Henry, M. D., the celebrated Family Physician of New York, says: "The use of Prof. Horsford's Baking Powder, offers admirable means for the introduction of a valuable element into the system, with the food of every-day life."

Household Words.

James Pearson, 28 Sixth Street, Buffalo, says: "I have used your SPONGE BROMBER for myself and family, and think it invaluable as a household remedy, for regulating the bowels, liver and kidneys. I shall never be without it." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.
